Jumilla is renowned for its old-vine Monastrell wines, whose depth and complexity and intense fruitiness convey the Mediterranean character of its land and history. Jumilla's commitment to organic and sustainable viticulture meets the growing demand for environmentally conscious products.

As well as being famous for its wines, Jumilla is also home to many other treasures that are well worth discovering. Centuries ago, the town was famous for being a geographical and cultural crossroads and, as such, you will find historical and artistic vestiges of all the Mediterranean civilizations.
